

Front End Developer

Austin, Texas

Job Description

We're searching for a full-time, Austin-based Front End Developer with the know-how, curiosity, and enthusiasm to thrive in a fast-paced work environment with hard-working, fun-loving peers. As a valuable member of the Frog Pond, you'll balance your time between the engineering team and the marketing group in order to write clean HTML/CSS/JS for design comps and help carry them through to execution. We're looking for someone with a foundation in front-end development, but UX experience would be a plus! This person must have a strong attention to detail, as well as an ability to communicate clearly and efficiently.

Roles & Responsibilities

The Front End Developer will report to the Design Director (who is remote) and work closely with the engineering team in Austin to carry comps from native design files to incorporation into back-end templates. He/she will coordinate between teams to help manage a project in accordance with priorities and deadlines. Candidate must be self-directed, but also be able to communicate within a team.

Desired Skills & Experience

Must have:

- Proficiency with HTML5
- Extensive CSS3 skills
- Excellent Javascript skills
- Knowledge about responsive design and mobile-first practices
- Minimum 3 years industry experience
- Ability to write clean, organized code that conforms to our existing standards

Bonus skills:

- Experience working within back-end systems
- UX and/or design experience
- Ecommerce experience
- JQuery, CommonJS or AMD libraries
- Sass/Less

Technologies used:

Adobe Creative Suite, Pycharm, GitHub, Codekit, Foundation framework
